

Habitat for Humanity

Currently Ward Edwards is working with Habitat for Humanity on three projects in Ridgeland, South Carolina: Habitat Rice Shire (50 ± acre / 94 homes), Habitat Bee's Creek (3.15 acre / homes), and Habitat Second Street (+/- 3.65 acres / 10 homes).

We have also recently completed the Brendan Woods houses that are part of a finished Habitat subdivision in Bluffton, South Carolina.

“Wards Edwards advice and guidance have been of the utmost importance to Hilton Head Regional Habitat for Humanity as we move forward in our mission of eliminating sub-standard housing from southern Beaufort County and Jasper County. The engineering work done by Wards Edwards for Brendan Woods in Bluffton has allowed our Habitat affiliates to build sixty-one houses since 2000. In total, Hilton Head Regional Habitat for Humanity has built seventy-six houses in the Hilton Head/Bluffton area since 1995.

All seventy-six houses were built primarily with private money raised from area residents, with churches, foundations, businesses, neighborhoods, fraternal organizations and individuals raising the necessary money to construct houses. Ward Edwards' contribution to the success of Habitat's mission cannot be understated. Their expertise and guidance have produced in Brendan Woods a community that is vibrant and successful, with families living the American dream of homeownership.

As we move forward with the construction of approximately 140 houses in several locations in Jasper County, Ward Edwards' innovative land plans will help create attractive communities where families will thrive and succeed.

Each year Hilton Head Habitat for Humanity receives inquiries from over 1,000 families looking for a simple, decent place to live. Ward Edwards' engineering, planning and creativity will be of great assistance as Hilton Head Regional Habitat for Humanity works to provide a hand up, not a hand out, to local hard-working deserving families.”

*Patricia Carey Wirth, Executive Director
Hilton Head Regional Habitat for Humanity*

